Gilbert workers stay on the job

By WENDY HANSCOM

Gilbert Manufacturing workers voted last week to extend their contract with the Locke Mills mill indefinitely.

Local 77, International Union of Electrical Workers gave its negotiating team the authority to continue contract talks until negotiators feel they have a reasonable contract to present to the membership, according to union vice-president Randy Chase of West Paris.

"We made a lot of progress and people were a lot happier last Tuesday than they were the week before," Chase said.

Union members were particularly pleased that Gilbert negotiators dropped two union security issues--

Painter suffers broken wrist in fall from Mt. Abram tower

By MICHAEL DANIELS

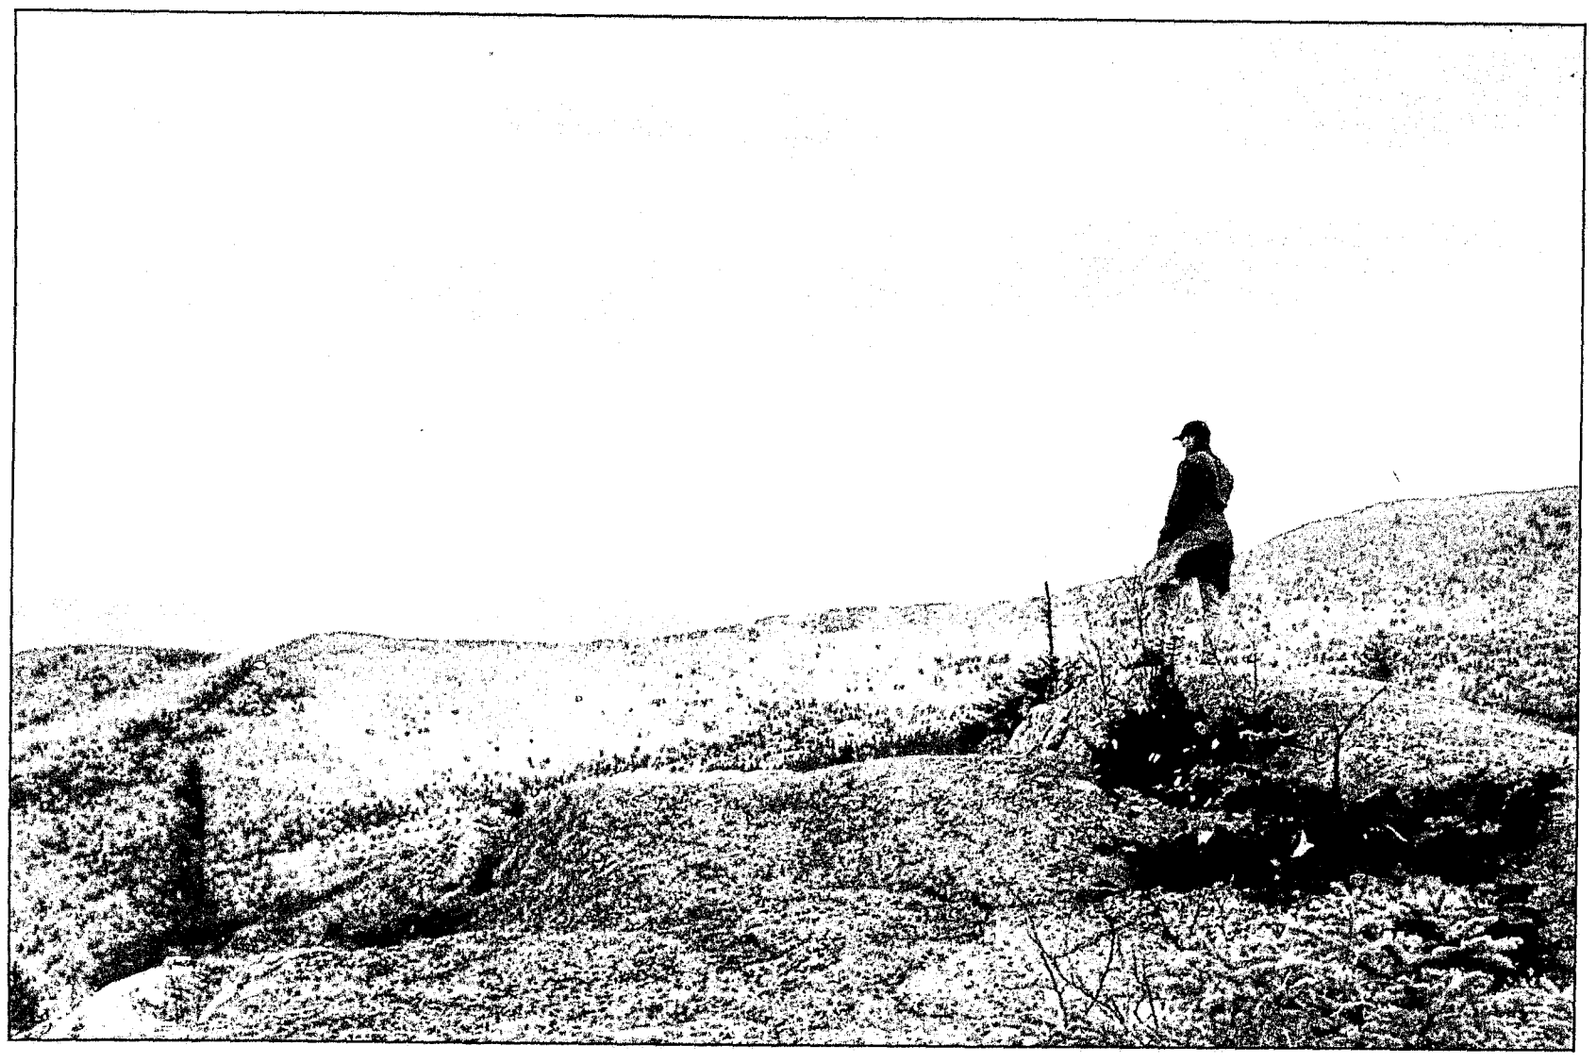
A worker painting lift towers at Ski Mt. Abram escaped with only a broken wrist when he fell last week from a tower.

According to Eric Austin, a spokesman for the Locke Mills ski area, Keith Broomhall, an employee of B&B Painting, was taken by Bethel Emergency Ambulance Rescue Service to Stephens Memorial Hospital following a fall last Thursday.

"He had no signs of spinal injury," Austin said, "but we thought that we'd better have him looked at as a precaution."

Austin was unable to say how far Broomhall had fallen.

A spokesman for SMH said Broomhall was treated for a fractured wrist and released.



WORTH THE HARD TRIP UP–Jason Miller of Topsham looks westward over the White Mountains after hiking to the top of Sunday River's Barker Mountain. Jason, a senior at Babson College, came to the mountain with his school's mountain bike club, but after a rough day in the saddle Saturday, he opted Sunday for a long, solitary hike to the summit. Scores of others took the easy way up, either riding the Locke Mountain triple, which carried hikers, or the North Peak triple, which was equipped to handle mountain bikes. However they arrived, all were treated to lovely views, even as snow squalls, visible behind Jason, moved in. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

It's official: ski season is upon us

Sunday River opens

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Sunday River Ski Resort opened for the 1993-94 ski season at 8 a.m. Monday, Columbus Day.

The opening was the earliest on record for the Newry resort. Whether or not the skiway will be able to remain open continuously for the season depends on the weather, according to spokesman Skip King, but for the next few days at least the forecast is favorable.

Snowmaking operations began at 2:05 Sunday afternoon, and overnight temperatures allowed the resort to lay down base depths averaging over a foot.

Nearly 300 skiers took advantage of the holiday opening day, along with a handful of mountain bikers--since Monday was also the final day for the resort's mountain bike park.

Sunday River's initial snowmaking activity has been directed at the black-diamond T-2 ski trail, which is served by the Locke Mountain Triple Chairlift.

A new loading-only mid-station was installed on the lift over the summer, allowing the resort to take advantage of the colder temperatures in the upper elevations of the mountain.

The resort expects that a major expansion of its snowmaking system, which occurred this summer, will enable it to offer skiing all the way to the base of the mountain later this month, King said.

The system is so powerful that it enabled Sunday River to record what officials believe to have been the first ski tracks of the 1993-94 ski season in North America on Sept. 30. (Killington officials believe otherwise.)

Chris Brink, vice president of marketing and sales at the resort, has advised skiers to call the resort's snow report line at 207-824-6400 for up to the minute information on conditions and trail openings.

Free Learn-to-Ski program

Upon opening of the resort's South Ridge Learning Area, expected by early November, the resort will offer free learn-to-ski packages including limited lift ticket, rental equipment and coaching.

The free Learn-to-Ski program, sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company, is open to new skiers aged 13 and up.

Anyone interested in learning how to ski should merely arrive at the resort prior to 11 a.m.

CH 6 to be back soon?

Talks underway

By WENDY HANSCOM

United Video Cablevision has made a proposal to WCSH Channel 6 that may be a "door opener" to getting the NBC affiliate back on local cable, according to WCSH general manager Lew Colby.

"There is good will on both parts and that's been instrumental with other companies in getting things moving quickly," Colby said. "There is some momentum going on. We picked up the telephone and called them to set up a meeting. They (UVC) have made a proposal that could be a door opener to getting us back on their system."

A UVC official said any agreement reached will probably not include a cash settlement.

"We don't want to get into any

Petition stalls plans for new water plant

By BARBARA ADAMS

Progress on a new Andover water system, needed to comply with Clean Drinking Water Act, has been delayed for a minimum of nine months, according to Water District President Hal Frazier.

Frazier said the delay has been caused by a petition submitted to the Public Utilities Commission, signed by more than 40 residents, protesting a proposed increase in rates.

"Until we get the rates raised, we can't get the FHA loan," Frazier said. "We need so much income in order to satisfy the loan we are better off delaying."

The town had been awarded a grant of $532,000 and a loan of $296,500 by the Farmers Home Administration for the new system. The loan has to be used before the

A taste of the East: Lowly alder logs sprout gastronomic treat

GROWING AN EXOTIC WOODS PRODUCT–Toshio Hashimoto and his son, Noriyuki, pose in his East Milton Road greenhouse. The structure houses close to 7,000 three-foot alder logs sprouting Shiitake mushrooms. The alder logs are not always easy to come by, Hashimoto said. "Most people consider it junk wood," he said. "But I pay up to $70 a cord for alder logs." Hashimoto is currently growing a U.S. developed strain of the Japanese mushroom, but he is planning to send to Japan for a Shiitake strain grown in his homeland. He wants to compare quality of the two, he said. (Photo by Wendy Hanscom)

By WENDY HANSCOM

A taste of the Far East is being grown fresh in the woods of western Maine.

Stacked like Ta-Ka-Radi tiles in a greenhouse near Toshi Hashimoto's home on the East Milton Road are nearly 7,000 three-foot alder logs. By next autumn the logs will sprout firm, brown-capped Shiitake (she-talk-ay) mushrooms.

Growing the mushrooms takes a lot of patience and hard work. Hashimoto has been at it for 10 years. The son of a Japanese farmer, he studied agriculture in Japan and has a degree in horticulture. He moved to the U.S. in 1977.

"I thought the market for Shiitake mushrooms would be good in America," he said. "It is a new product and it's hard to grow."

The vitamin rich mushrooms are sought after by restaurants, he said, and gaining in popularity in home cooking.

The mushrooms have a richer taste and texture than ordinary white commercial mushrooms, Hashimoto said.

"Their taste is like a meat, more crunchy," he said. "When you bite down you can really feel it."

Hashimoto began growing Shiitake mushrooms in 1983, when he bought a woodlot on the East Milton Road.

To start the growing process,

> "I think I break about even, but I get to eat a good mushroom every day."
> TOSHI HASHIMOTO

Hashimoto takes tree-length alder logs and cuts them to three-foot lengths. The logs are soaked in water and several small holes are drilled in each.

A small amount of mycelium, thin interwoven fibers that are the feeding and growing portion of the fungi, is implanted in the holes. The holes are sealed with styrofoam or wax.

Then begins the waiting game. The inoculated logs must be kept warm and moist for up to a year before the mushrooms pop out.

Most commercially produced Shiitake mushrooms are grown in sawdust, Hashimoto said, but the ones grown on logs have better color, taste and command a higher selling price.

When Hashimoto first began growing the Japanese mushrooms he lived in Boston and commuted to his woodlot on the weekends.

He left the inoculated logs outdoors on the woodlot and waited for the mushrooms to grow. The wait was sometimes three or four years but he kept at it for five years.

Then in 1987 he returned to Japan to learn how to grow the mushrooms on logs, but indoors.

The same year he moved to Maine and set up his fungus farm.

In the mushroom greenhouse, logs are stacked compactly, but with plenty of room for the humid air they need to circulate freely between them.

Metal hot-water heating pipes run under stacks. Hung above are PVC water pipes which periodically sprinkle the greenhouse.

Once the logs begin sprouting mushrooms, they are taken to a heated harvest room and lined on end up against the walls.

Hashimoto's wife, Kaling, daughters, Shizuko and Meika, and son, Noriyuki, help pick the crop.

Hashimoto travels to Boston on Saturdays to sell the mushrooms. The meaty fungi sells for $6 a

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AWARENESS

To the Editor:

October is Domestic Violence Awareness month. Safer Families Program (SFP) has scheduled several events to recognize this, make people more aware of the problem of domestic violence and to raise money to continue our much needed program in Oxford County.

We will be selling raffle tickets for a completely furnished doll house, a JAZZ mountain bike and many other prizes. Our thanks to all of the donors. Tickets may be purchased at Preb's and Skidder's or from Lynn Mason. A women's breakfast will be held on Oct. 21 at the Sudbury Inn--proceeds to benefit the program. Our speaker will be Lois Reckitt, director of The Family Crisis Shelter in Portland. She is dynamic and inspiring. On Nov. 27, Crisports will host a luncheon and fashion show at the Summit Hotel. We will draw the raffle winners, have a silent auction and continue our efforts to support Safer Families and increase awareness of the ramifications of domestic violence.

Your support is essential to our success. Please help us to continue to help those women, children and men who are caught in the cycle of abuse. The program does make a difference.

RETIREMENT COMMITTEE THANKS

To the Editor:

The Community Retirement Living Committee of the Bethel Area Health Center gives a big thank you to everyone who contributed funds for an initial market study of a retirement living facility in Bethel. We have now received sufficient money and pledges to be able to commission this study, with targeted completion by the end of the year.

The ultimate goal is a local facility where people living longer lives can remain as independent as possible for as long as possible, after they conclude that living in their own house, condo, or apartment no longer seems practical.

The committee welcomes comments from anyone interested in such a project. We currently meet at 8:30 a.m. the first Monday of the month at the Health Center. Meetings are open to the public.

U.W. SUPPORT APPRECIATED

To the Editor:

At this, the kick-off of the United Way's annual fundraising campaign, I would like to publicly thank the United Way for their continued support of our organization. In a word without the help of the United Way and those who support it, R.E.A.C.H. (Rape Education and Crisis Hotline) would not be here.

The funds given to R.E.A.C.H. by the United Way help fund our volunteer coordinator. Without Rockie Graham, and without the dedicated advocates that she supervises, trains and counsels, R.E.A.C.H. would not be able to provide the 24-hour crisis hotline available to victims and survivors of sexual assault who are looking for information, assistance in seeking necessary medical care, or a friendly, supportive voice to talk to--all at no charge. Without these advocates, last year alone, more than 1300 victims and survivors of sexual assault, and their loved ones, would have gone without help in Oxford County.

I encourage those who can, to contribute to the United Way during their campaign this year. These aren't dollars sent to a place where you will never see the result of their use; this money serves you, your family, your friends and neighbors. And without it, non-profit organizations such as R.E.A.C.H. could not exist.

Cree poet to read at Gould

"In this time of steel...
Things move so fast,
Now moving faster and faster."

Connections between western Maine and the vast lands of the Hudson Bay watershed 1,000 miles to the north may seem minimal, but two Maine guides from Newry have done a lot to make meaningful ties with the native people of Northern Quebec.

Kevin Slater and Polly Mahoney have arranged for one such person, Margaret Sam-Cromarty, to share through her poetry the perspectives of the native Cree peoples in the face of rapid change in their boreal homeland.

She will read from her book, "James Bay Memoirs," at Gould Academy on Friday, Oct. 15, at 7:30 p.m.

Slater and Mahoney met Sam-Cromarty on one of their many trips in Cree country, where they canoe its rivers and lakes and lead sled dogs over its ice and tundra. "It's very unusual for a person born and raised in the traditional ways to have a book published," Slater said. "We were real fortunate to meet her and her husband, William."

"Sam-Cromarty's poems tell of her love for and fond memories of her land and life," according to her publisher Georgia Elston. "The old ways as well as recent development are expressed in simple, yet eloquent, wording."

The completed and proposed phases of the massive James Bay hydroelectric project to some extent form a backdrop for the changes during this century, although hydropower development is only one of many themes in Sam-Cromarty's works.

There is no charge for attending the reading, which will take place in Holden Lounge on the Gould Academy campus. Sam-Cromarty will also read at Bowdoin, University of Maine-Orono, and Unity College.

Further information on the Gould reading may be obtained by calling English Department faculty member Lucia Owen at 824-2161.

NEARING AN END, FINALLY--Bethel's three-year-plus, $2.5 million Downtown Revitalization Project is drawing to a close. Workers have now paved the roads around the common. The only major work to be completed in that area of town are the sidewalks. Next summer Phase III of the project should be completed, with work on Mechanic Street and a short section of Spring Street. The massive project, undertaken as part of a Department of Environmental Protection consent order, has removed more than half the inflow to the town's wastewater treatment plant–which is expected to greatly extend the life of the current plant. As part of this year's work, a new elbow (inset upper right) has been added to the town common at the head of Mill Hill Road. The old horse-watering that formerly stood at the intersection of Main and Railroad streets will be placed on the island. A "Bricks for the Bethel Common Committee" has begun a fund-raising campaign to purchase bricks for the new sidewalk that will separate the elbow from the rest of the common. The bricks, which cost $2 each, can be used to commemorate the donor or a loved one. (Photos by Michael Daniels) grant is implemented. The town has 139 customers in the water district, who currently pay $32 a quarter, It is estimated that under the new system, customers will pay approximately $64 or $65 a quarter. There has been no rate increase in the town for 10 years.

In the preliminary planning of the project, it was also estimated that after the new system had been in operation for a couple of years, annual operating costs would be approximately $63,000, with customers paying $44,100 and the town, $18,900. In the 1991-92 period, the operating income was $26,418, with customers paying $21,218, and the town $5,000 (for hydrants).

"If it hadn't been for this setback (petition) we would be in business right now," Frazier said. "The bank was close to giving us the loan. Right now we are breaking the law (with the old system), but the feeling is we won't be penalized because we have come this far.

"We are hoping the PUC rules in the town's favor. If not, there is scuttlebutt that the Environmental Protection Agency may take over the project," he said. "We are going to have to comply with the Clean Water Act, and there is nothing we can do to stop it. We would rather do it ourselves. If you can't get it done, they will come in and do it for you."

Frazier said that the annual meeting held in the spring was attended by very few people, just the trustees, Howard Spidell (water district consultant), Chris Bailey (water district technician), Mrs. Arthur Myshrall and secretary, Evelyn Bell.

"We ended up re-electing ourselves, which was just ridiculous," he said. Frazier noted that perhaps he should have informed the people before this time about what was going on.

"But to be truthful,...I would like to be able to tell people all about this project, but they have to be interested in listening," he said.

AND THEY'RE OFF--Hikers, walkers and runners begin the uphill trek in Saturday's annual Mahoosuc Art's Council Hike/Walk/Run up Sunday River's Three Mile Trail. Damp, chilly weather held down the turnout for this year's race, but 63 finishers still made it to the top of Barker Mt., and hundreds of other visitors came to the mountain over the weekend for the crafts, eats and scenery of the tenth annual Blue Mountain Arts and Crafts Fair. The overall Hike/Walk/Run men's winner was Bob Poirier of Mechanic Falls; the women's winner was Faye Gagnon of Auburn. Sponsors for this year's Hike/Walk/Run included Sunday River, Groan & McGurn, Gould Academy, Crisports, Boise Cascade and the Lewiston Sun-Journal. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

THIS WEEK AT THE

Moses Mason House

A wide variety of "What's Its" were brought for exhibit and discussion at the October monthly meeting of the Bethel Historical Society, President Charles Raymond held each up while those present discussed its possible uses and in a number of cases determined its use.

Following this portion of the meeting, Polly Davis gave a slide presentation on the history of the old Grover Hill section of town. This road was once the only route to the present Grover Hill section of Bethel. It was closed in 1902 from the present Annis residence to Grover Hill Road.

Mrs. Davis reviewed the history of the area, discussing farms now gone and the many early associations the area has with several of the first families to settle in what is today Bethel. She provided information on the dates of construction of many of the present residences and a record of deed transfers.

During the business portion of the meeting, president Raymond, presiding for the first time as the Society's newly elected head officer, asked for everyone's help and cooperation during the coming year. He announced that the next meeting would be held on Nov. 4 and feature a presentation by Margaret Joy Tibbetts on some 20th century Bethel women.

Randall Bennett, curator of collections, announced that the Dublin Historic Society had presented the Society with a copy of the 1919 history of Dublin, N.H. and also published an article in their newsletter on Bethel-Dublin connections. Mr. Bennett explained that several early families came to Bethel from Dublin, including that of Dr. Moses Mason.

Rebecca Kendall spoke on behalf of the "Bricks for Bethel Common" project and announced that there were flyers available for buying bricks. President Raymond noted that the notebook of preservation conference materials is now available to anyone interested in borrowing it to review this information.

Director Stanley R. Howe announced that the Society had been informed earlier in the week of the death of Herbert Shirrefs. A Society member, he had earlier signed a contract with the Society to publish his book on the Richardson Lake region of Maine. Howe reassured those attending that the project was still to continue and that the Shirrefs family had requested that memorials gifts be sent to the Bethel Historical Society. Howe added that any memorial gifts received in memory of Herbert Shirrefs would would count toward the "match" for the Bingham Betterment Fund challenge grant.

hiring non-union workers and ignoring seniority during temporary layoffs, Chase said.

"Having union security changed a lot of people's minds," he said, "because everybody knows that if you don't have union security you're not going to have a job for long."

But Gilbert's labor lawyer said the company was never trying to get rid of the union.

"It's a bunch of crap," Peter Bennett of Portland said. "We already had language in the contract that allows for ignoring seniority during temporary lay-offs. We were just trying to streamline the language. We're not doing anything to subvert the union. We're just trying to make this company as competitive as possible. Too many companies have moved out of state. We don't want that in this case."

Gilbert's negotiators also dropped an attempt to make joining the union voluntary, Chase said.

Under the current contract the mill is a closed shop. New Gilbert employees must become members of the union after their 30-day probationary period is up, Chase said.

"Our proposal was that people should have freedom of choice," Bennett said. "If an employee refuses to join the union, then the union can ask the company to fire that employee. Nobody should be forced to pay a fee to hold down a job. But they wouldn't agree to it. So we dropped it."

Gilbert and Local 77 negotiators were scheduled to meet again yesterday.

Chase predicted contract negotiations over health benefits and pay increases will probably continue for at least the next few weeks.

pound to Boston wholesalers, who resell the mushrooms for up to $10 a pound, he said.

"I get the top price because I use the log method," he said. "It's the Japanese tradition and it's the best quality."

Even at $6 a pound ("regular" white mushrooms at the Bethel IGA sell for $2.24 a pound), Hashimoto's not sure he's making much profit.

"I think I break about even," he said, "but I get to eat a good mushroom every day."

Hashimoto also grows some of his own Shiitake mycelium. The commercially grown fibers cost about $15 for a two-quart jar full. Hashimoto transplants some of the fibers into other sawdust filled jars, where it continues to grow. It takes 200 or 300 jars of the fibers each year to inoculate new logs.

Once the mycelium has taken hold, the logs continue to produce a good yield of mushrooms once a year for about four years. After that they are moved outdoors.

About 5,000 stacked logs trail off into the woods behind Hashimoto's home. The older logs sprout mushrooms in the fall, which are also harvested and sold.

In the ultimate recycling program, once the outside logs are no longer productive, they are dried and brought back inside to burn in the boiler system, which warms the newer logs in the greenhouse.

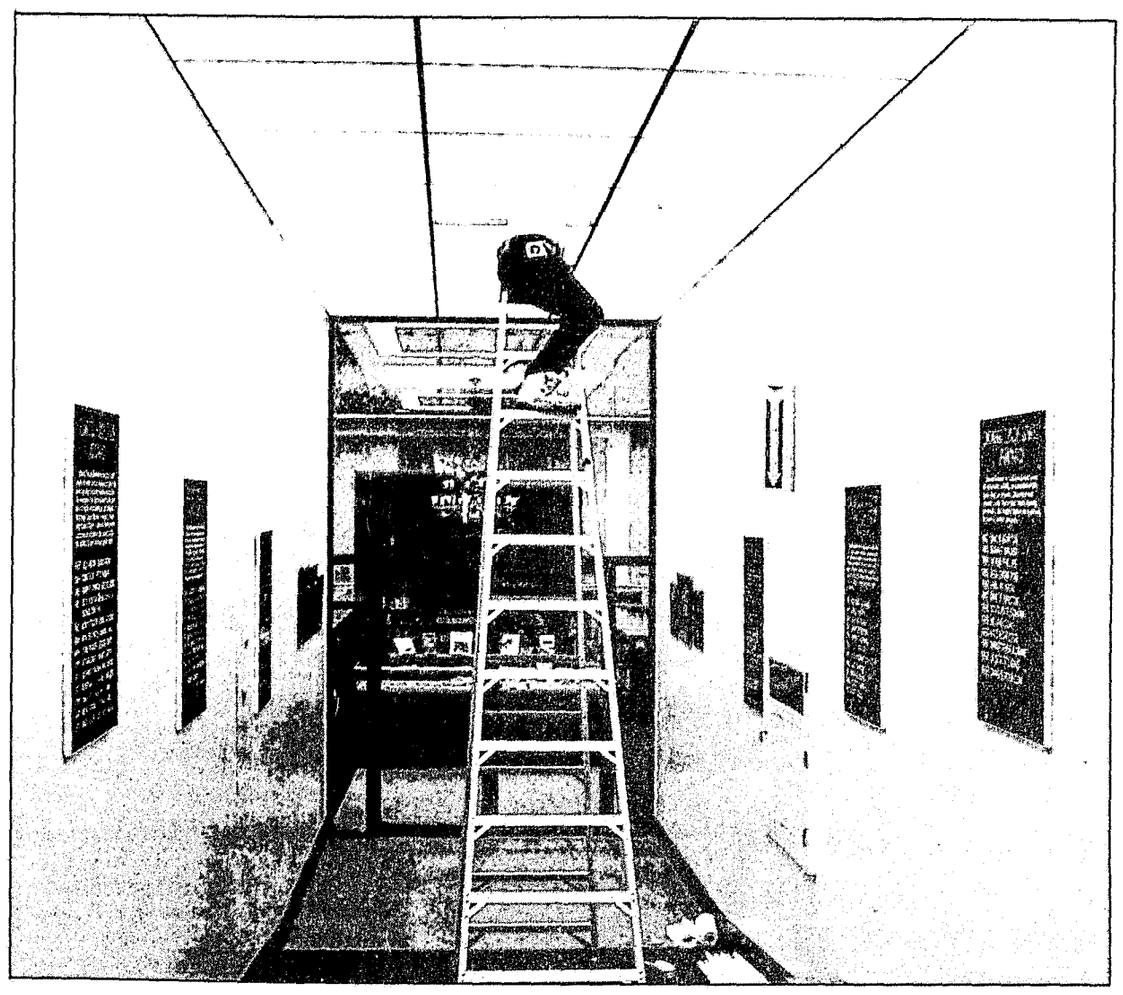
But even with waste wood to burn, it's too expensive to heat the greenhouses year 'round.

"It's too expensive to grow from mid-December to February," Hashimoto said. "It's too cold and the price is the same all year 'round. They just stop growing for that time."

Besides raising mushrooms, Hashimoto earns a living repairing Japanese-made cars in his nearby garage. But he'd still like to see his mushroom business and its income grow.

"The market is great and the price is still pretty good," he said. "My goal is to have a bigger greenhouse in front of my garage.

"The average mushroom farmer in Japan has 20,000 logs as a full-time farmer. I'm only part-time. I want to keep it in the family. For more than 20,000 I'd have to hire someone to help. I want to keep quality not quantity."



LIGHTENING THE LIGHTING LOAD--A technician from Light Solutions installs new equipment last week outside the Gould Academy library. "Power Partners," a program sponsored by Central Maine Power, is helping to revamp nearly every light source at the academy. The $117,000 project cost was reduced by a $40,000 grant from CMP. Gould Headmaster Bill Cough estimates that the more efficient lights will make the investment pay off in three years. The idea for the project was inspired by alumnus and former faculty member Peter Chandler. (Photo by Kirk Siegel)

agreement where we have to charge a fee per subscriber to broadcast their signal," said UVC regional general manager Ed Merrill. "We want to avoid any agreement that would force cable fees to go up."

Instead of paying cash, UVC has offered some local stations a chance to advertise on cable channels such as CNN or USA network, Merrill said, and other promotion incentives.

The two groups were scheduled to meet yesterday (Tuesday) to discuss details of the plan, Colby said.

"We have a lot to consider," Colby said. "I don't want to deprive people of their favorite station or favorite programs. It's been frustrating trying to move a business when these companies have been able to take our product for years without paying for it."

Exorcise those ghastly, ghostly family secrets

Is there a good reason why you look under the bed each night?

The Bethel Citizen tries to keep its readers informed regarding the mundane matters that make up much of the weekly news, but what about those aspects of life that don't meet a newspaper's standards of verifiability?

Like Great-Great-Great-Grand Aunt Emma, who has overstayed her earthly welcome by a few generations.

With Halloween fast approaching, we thought it's time to report on some local residents who never seem to turn up in the census counts.

Have you had a haunting experience? Does a friendly ghost join you for dinner, or a poltergeist play in your parlor? Does a century-old family feud still play itself out in your hallway at midnight?

Call us and tell us about it. We'll talk on the phone or maybe come over and take a picture of where your spirit last lingered. Perhaps your phantasmagorical friend may even make an appearance in the negative.

We'll air your ghostly linen in our pre-Halloween, Oct. 27, edition.

West Paris

By RUSSELL YATES

This past week started off with cloudy weather and rain in the afternoon. It was badly needed, and I hope we get a lot more before the ground freezes up for the winter, as there are many people running short on water.

Tuesday morning, our nephew, Wendall Whitman, came to clean up what sweet corn fodder I had and to get the last of our cucumbers. We were glad to find someone who wanted them, as I always dislike to see those things just lay and be spoiled by heavy frosts when someone somewhere might like them.

Peggy drove me downstreet on Wednesday morning for an appointment with Dr. Ware. He found things sounding and looking good, so hopefully I'm okay for a while. In the afternoon, Peggy made and decorated a small cake with the Grange emblem on it to be used in the West Paris Grange display at Fryeburg Fair. I busied myself cleaning up more of the garden. There is a lot of hard work involved in planting a garden and keeping the weeds and grass down enough to find the vegetables, and then in the fall it is an awful job to clean up the garden as you get ready for another winter.

Also that afternoon, the former Helen Holt called bringing me a Pomona Grange past master's pin that had belonged to her father, Ernest L. Holt, and they wanted me to have it. I was very pleased to receive it and will wear it with pride. Ernest was a good friend of mine and helped me a lot in Grange work over the years.

Also that afternoon, sister Laura had been to Auburn to visit sister Viva and called in as she was on her way home to East Andover. She had supper with us before leaving for home.

Thursday, Peggy and I went to West Paris where we were joined by Bertha Benoit, and we all went to Andrew's Funeral Home for the services for Evelyn Barnett. Evelyn was a past master of Franklin Grange. Many members of Franklin Grange attended the services in a body. After the services there was a gathering of relatives and friends at the home of Bertha Benoit.

Peggy was invited to attend Ladies' Night at Oxford Grange Friday night, and I went along. There was a very nice potluck supper preceding the meeting, and the plates didn't seem large enough to sample all that looked good. The meeting followed at 7:30 p.m. and the offices were all filled by ladies. Peggy filled in as assistant steward. There were several State Grange Officers there to take offices. It was a good meeting with a good program and was well attended.

Our callers on Saturday were Loretta Merrill from West Bethel and her son Russell. Russell lives in Georgia but is spending a few days with his mother and father. They will all be spending some time at Fryeburg Fair during the week.

Sister Peggy attended the dance at West Paris Grange Saturday night. She reported having a good time, although there were over 80 people attending.

Sunday afternoon, Oct. 3, Peggy and I went to West Paris where we were joined by Bertha Benoit and then all went to Franklin Grange Hall in Bryant Pond to attend a rehearsal of the Pomona degree, as we will be working the degree at our meeting with Franklin Grange. Some were late getting there for the rehearsal, but most of them finally came and we had quite a good rehearsal. We have some new officers this year and we all needed the rehearsing before doing the real thing.

After supper on Sunday evening, we took the truck and went to West Paris and to Middle Intervale cemeteries to get the boxes of flowers that we put there before Memorial. On our way home from Middle Intervale Cemetery on the East Bethel Road, we saw a small black bear in the ditch near the home of Rodney and Geraldine Howe. He didn't wait to be friendly but scrambled up over the bank and into the bushes before we got up where he was. I expect that mother bear was close by to look after him, but we didn't stop to investigate.

There will be a dance with the Richard Felt Orchestra furnishing the music on Oct. 16 at West Sumner Grange Hall.

Let's not forget the HOLIDAY CRAFT AND FOOD SALE to be held at West Paris Grange on Nov. 6 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. For more information or to engage a table, call Peggy Blake at 674-3872, or Mary Lovejoy at 674-2147. Tables for this sale are $3 each.

Mary Lovejoy is back home after having a lovely vacation. She went on a MaineLine bus tour to the Amish Country in Pennsylvania and enjoyed every bit of the trip. She reports that the flowers grown there are really beautiful.

Raymond and Impy Mack recently attended the wedding of Janet McKeen and Scott Everett at the Congo Church in Norway.

Hope Lovejoy spent the weekend with a friend, Jenny Newton of So. Paris. They attended the first day of Fryeburg Fair.

Mary Lovejoy reports that Pleasant Valley Grange of West Bethel placed fourth and West Paris Grange fifth in the ladies' exhibits at Fryeburg Fair.

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

We have certainly had a taste of things to come this last week--heavy white frosts mornings, early drivers having to scrape ice from windshields, the gardens all blackened, black ice on roads in some places.

I returned home Saturday afternoon after spending another week with Ethel's family in Otisfield while she and Craig enjoyed a few days on vacation in Vermont and New Hampshire.

Norma and David enjoyed her 30th class reunion at Gould Academy this past weekend.

Bernie and Debbie Michaud have moved out of Bob Harkins' home to be nearer their employment. They were supper guests Sunday night of Norma and David Salway.

Some of the summer folks have closed up camp and left for warmer climes.

Mrs. Muriel Kimball of Waterford spent last weekend with the William Bancrofts.

Several from here attended the Fryeburg Fair this week.

I visited with Dottie Adams on Thursday, and we went to Rumford for my blood test and to do several errands.

The fall foliage has passed its peak now and many leaves are on the ground. The colors were not as vivid as the last two years--tho' it's always pretty in this area.

"All-natural ingredients" sounds super wholesome, but arsenic, cyanide, coal dust, and manure are all natural, too.

Recent overnight guests at the Wentzell/Eichel cottage were Donald and Gloria Wentzell Porter of Kill Devil Hills, N.C. Visiting on Thursday was Rachel Gordon Mayer from Etna, N.H., who was attending the reunion of her Gould Academy graduating class of 50 years ago. She was the daughter of Rev. Murchie and Eleanor Gordon. He was minister of the Bethel Methodist Church at that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson have returned to Florida after the closing on the sale of their house here.

By COLISTA MORGAN

A golden dawn threw its light into the early blue of a glorious day. The colors of fall are spreading over the hills. And I had visions of the sea and the days that I had spent by the sea. Millions of people watch and rejoice in the endless variety of the sea, the waves breaking against the shore, shifting sands, and I was one of the million today, but only in thought.

At first I recalled my ride across Penobscot Bay, then later a lunch at a place of drop-off facing the Atlantic with no beach; just a wideness of ledges below.

In the far distance near the surface of the water all was shrouded in mist. But as we chose a place to watch the waves roll in, the sun burned through clouds that might have formed over the sea.

Fishermen occasionally arrived as solitary figures pulling slatted lobster traps.

As far as I could see along the shoreline were rough, then smooth fantastic rocks "growing" everywhere devoid of vegetation making a surface not easy to describe.

Spread out before us was the splashed reflection of the sun shining back from the water. All was peaceful and glassy, the air balmy. We felt relaxed and content just to sit and watch.

Sandpipers with alert eyes came within a short distance of us, as did the gulls to see what we were doing. The sandpipers seemed always in a hurry. They would dart forward, probe, then retreat from an oncoming wave, as twinkle footed as if they were on a hot plate.

A curious loon came to inspect near shore. How lovely he was.

The waves were the same but ever different. Only when almost to the shore did the swells cave in, falling with the gurgle of a dying breaker, an in-drawn breath, a boom, the receding wash. The fluffed meringues along the ledges were a contrast to the colorful of peacock tints. We spoke of the slumbering passion of its lurking treachery, of the rages into which it could lash itself. The sullen swells could roll up at the nod of its master, the wind.

Time passes and my visions vanished, but the scenes of the beauty is still linked in my memory.

Mr. and Mrs. Artland Rogers of Norway visited me on Monday. It's always nice to see a former pupil. I have also had several other callers.

I have been in Lewiston several times at the CMMC to see my brother, Ernest, who is having surgery this week. Rena and Albert Curtis also visited.

John Betts is a patient at Maine Medical in Portland.

Glenn and Hazel Fitch, New Sharon called on Anne Fox. They were neighbors many years ago in Orono.

Gertrude Hutchins went on the bus to Rumford on Wednesday.

Louise Powell, Hale and Bernice Wing, Dixfield visited Alma Hewey on Tuesday.

Florence Hall and Anne Fox attended "Open House" at the Andover historical building on Sunday.

Gertrude Hutchins and Anne Fox had dinner at the school on Thursday.

The ladies of the Church meeting were at Dottie Langs. The birthdays of Anne Fox and Jerry Marston were honored with birthday cake.

Stacy Thompson called on aunt Florence Hall on Monday.

Norman White was in Togus this week.

Fred Haines cut his foot with a chain saw on Sept. 30. He is at Togus and a skin graft was done last week. He will be home this week.

Mrs. Mary Bean with Arthur Hertell attended the reunion banquet at Gould Academy on Oct. 2. Clara Foster Hamlin won one of the door prizes. I hadn't seen Clara for better than 35 years.

Sandra Olson Gunther was at the banquet on crutches for the Class of '58.

Peter Haines and yours truly also attended the banquet.

Melvin Olson will be undergoing surgery in Boston this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Olson, with children, Auburn and Kendra, of Gladstone, Mich., visited Melvin and Shirley Olson. Glenn attended his 20th reunion at Telstar on Oct. 9.

Alice Grant of Cape Elizabeth visited Vince Mollicone and Leslie Noyes on Oct. 2 and 3.

Babe Bartlett and Arlene Harrington went to Fryeburg on Oct. 5.

Florence Hastings returned on Oct. 5 from visiting family in New Hampshire and Massachusetts for a week.

Sonny Hastings is working about the farm now.

Lil Bartlett is now 94 years young. She received many cards and visitors on Oct. 2.

The leaves are now in full color. The maple in the gully in front of my house is aflame in color now.

Bob and Sylvia Johnson of Sumner and Tyler Craig Moore were Monday night supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dillingham.

Gordon Dillingham and Craig cleaned out their well and set the foot valve down another seven inches on Sunday afternoon. Bob Croteau has been doing some yard work for Gordon and Lolalee this week.

Tyler Craig Moore and his mom, Brydie, attended a birthday party for Nicholas Wilson last Sunday at the home of Betty Kane in Otisfield. Tyler and Nicholas are cousins and are only a month apart in age.

Gordon and Lolalee Dillingham called on Sonny and Phyllis Blake Thursday evening.

One of Andrea's young neighbors, Crystal Cash, had her picture on the front page of the "Lewiston Sun" on Monday. The picture was of Crystal and her Ayrshire cow at Fryeburg Fair on opening day. She is a member of the Western Maine 4-H Dairy Club and will have her animal judged at the fair. Good luck, Crystal!

Larry Billings, Curator of Woodstock Historical Society, wants to remind us that they welcome new members who are willing to contribute to the society and the community. Volunteer work is most rewarding when there are plenty of people to share responsibilities. The society also offers this description of an old study by Emma Darcy: "The room was redolent of a past age, its walls lined with glass-fronted bookcases, its vast floor space furnished with three impressive desks and huge leather chairs. There were map cases, an antique globe of the world, huge dictionaries on reading stands, collections of encyclopedias. The atmosphere seemed to be one of nostalgia for a store of knowledge that should always be cherished."

I have been trying to get a little fall cleaning done this week, so haven't had a chance to get to you to see if you have any news. will try to do better next week. Give me a call if you have news and I'll gladly send it along to the paper. Thanx.

Services were performed on Sunday, Oct. 3 at 9 a.m. at the Newry Community Church with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was: "What is happiness?" from Ecclesiastes 1:1-11. From the words of the philosopher King David's son: "Life is useless, you spend your life working, piling up gold and silver... To be satisfied with little, is the greatest wisdom, he that increaseth his riches, increaseth his care. But happiness is peace of mind, the greatest hidden treasure of all, this is the gift of God."

Ladies Circle met Monday noon, Oct. 4, at President Sylvia Wight's residence. After lunch the meeting was opened and Treasurer-Secretary Freda Robertson read the notes of the last meeting and brought the finances up to date. Dues were paid, and it was voted to send a money gift to the Friends of New Tribes, and a basket to the Hanscoms for Thanksgiving and Christmas time. It was also voted to serve coffee, etc., at the Hymn Sing on Oct. 17 at 2 p.m. and to discontinue the monthly meetings for the winter and resume them in the spring.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Bea Lowell and Doris Parent of "The Newry Bowling Gang" were at the Oxford Lanes, Rumford, last week. Of the "Lefties," Betsy was high on the triples and singles. Of the "Righties," Doris was high on the triples and singles. Betsy's mother, Dot Dore of New Hampshire who is visiting with the Clarks, was a guest. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

The Fire Auxiliary had their meeting on Monday, Sept. 27. The main objective was the craft fair which will be held at the Greenwood Fire Station in Locke Mills on Nov. 13.

Charlotte Cole went to East Bethel last Friday to visit Lillian Bartlett, who celebrated her 94th birthday. Charlotte played happy birthday for Lillian and entertained her and some of the neighbors who were: Peggy Coolidge, Florabel Haines, Arlene Harrington and Leslie Noyes.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gibbs have returned to their home in No. Paris after spending the summer at their camp on North Pond, and Helen Chase has returned to her home on Howe Hill Road after spending the summer in her camp next door to the Gibbs.

The Historical Society had their regular meeting on Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m. The officers for the year were named as follows: president, Blaine Mills; vice president, Betty Hollis; secretary, Dennis Swan; treasurer, Lee Mills. The trustees are: Robert Keniston, Phyllis Coolidge, Edith Morey, Margaret Mills and Virginia Keniston.

The society had some gifts donated recently--a painting by Glenn Martin, donated by Philip Cummings; a letter written in 1919 was donated by Vivian Darcy; and a bicycle was donated by Carl Brooks.

Refreshments were served by Jeanette Kimball and Katherine Hakala. Randy Bennett presented some slides and spoke on the White Mountains of Maine and New Hampshire.

Bryant Pond

By ALICE HOYT

The Woodstock Historical Society notes that Keith Melder wrote "New England farmers fought in defense of what they considered their liberties. They fought for their families and their towns." This is from a book Curator Larry Billings has, put out by the old Sturbridge Village. Larry Billings has given several items to the museum, a rare book of the poems George Eliot wrote, a vase, a sugar and creamer set, and a two-volume history of America. Francis and Glennis Brooks have given a tin with bears on it.

The museum offers a balanced collection. There is a bit of everything from years ago at our museum. Curator Larry Billings has given a small oil painting to the society. President Annella Burnham has been organizing some things for the coming year.

The annual Parish meeting of the Universalist Church of Bryant Pond will be held on Oct. 17 at 10 a.m. following the 9 a.m. worship service at the Church.

Franklin Grange No. 124 met on Monday, Oct. 4, for scrambled officers night. Thirty-six were present. Officers were: master, Dot Canwell; overseer, Louis Woodworth; chaplain, Roberta Ramey; steward, Wendall Easter; LAS, Marjorie Coleman; A.S., Raymond Coleman; lecturer, Lorretta Hall; Ceres, Laura Hutchins; Pomona, Kathleen McAllister, Flora, Irene Stevens; secretary, Anna Woodworth; treasurer, Lettie Brooks; G.K., Harold Canwell; CWA, Bertha Benoit and Betty Kerr; executive committee, Ralph Hoyt, Carl Brooks and Lucy Ridley; pianist, Althea Fish. It was voted to hold a musical supper with Ernestine Riley, chairman, next summer. As a donation has been received, it was voted to put in the furnace. Viva Yates Whitman was reported on. Program: opening song by all; opening thought by Lorretta Hall; a tableau about the American Creed by Bertha Benoit and Lettie Brooks; song by all; poem about Maine by Anna Swan; Harry Boyer sang a couple songs; game of "pig scramble"; quiz on parts of the body; Lettie was the "Fair" Queen (it was also Lettie's birthday); the Grange band played a couple songs; a silent auction. Peggy wants fudge for State Grange and she needs it by Oct. 26. Next meeting will be Oct. 18 for a Halloween party. Please come in a costume.

Tuesday evening on Channel IV is Bryant Pond night. Tune in at 7 p.m.

On Sunday, Oct. 17, Hattie Kneeland, serving the Lord in Peru with Wycliffe Bible Translations, will be speaker at the Bryant Pond Baptist Church for the morning service.

The Woodstock Extension will hold a meeting at the Town Conference Room on Wednesday, Oct. 20. It will be a brown bag lunch, and the meeting starts at 10:30. The program will be a holiday open house workshop.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Snow came on Upton Tuesday, Oct. 5 in big, swirling flakes. At first, the flakes vanished when they landed, but as the day became dark, they covered the cooler surfaces with white. The snow blanket remained until the sun shone warm above the horizon clouds on Wednesday. This sudden heat melted snow and frost on the roof and large drops of water fell off the ends of the stringers in such rapid succession it appeared as thin streams. Some drops splashed on the hummingbird feeder, some were broken by a breeze and these sent fine spray on the window and between the streams as crystal webs. The sunlight behind bathed the scene with liquid, moving rainbow colors rivaling the autumn-colored hillside beyond the house.

Violette Bernier spent a week in Massachusetts to pack personal belongings and clean out their apartment. Ray will soon be finishing his stone masonry job and be home for the cooler months.

The bird hunting season opened with many bangs.

Laurie Brown and Arline Bernier were joined by Wanda Hutchinson, Ray and Beth of West Peru on their trip to Scarborough to participate in a walk-a-thon for Alzheimers Research. I wish to thank everyone who sponsored me. If you meant to, but time ran out, it isn't too late. I have some contributions which I will turn in the last of the month. Four of us walked all or much of the eight miles. Three-month-old Beth went by carriage. We received $226 to turn in to the association. Thank you.

Andover

By KAREN McKAY

The Andover Historical Society would like to thank those that attended their open house and everyone that displayed their collections of "Hobbies of Yesteryears."

The Snow Valley Snow Goers recently held their election of officers. The new officers are: President, Jim Sheilds; vice president, Peter Poor; treasurer, Bill Kelley; secretary, Geri Gaudet; MSA director, Bill Smith; trailmaster, Ken Jodrey; assistant trailmaster, Barry Swasey; club reporter, Tammy Hall. The club is holding a Halloween Dance at the town hall on Oct. 23. The band, "Blood Relations," will play from 9-1. Prizes will be awarded to the scariest and most original costumes. Tickets are available at the local stores, Addies Place and Davis Florist in Rumford. The group is also planning a hunter's breakfast on Nov. 6 at the First Congregational Church CEB. The breakfast will be held from 4:30-10 a.m. Anyone interested in joining the snowmobile club should attend their next meeting on Oct. 16 at 7 p.m. at the fire station.

Fifty friends and family members gathered on Sunday to surprise Mr. and Mrs. William Swan with a 35th wedding anniversary party. The couple celebrated their anniversary on Sept. 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kerchner and family of Wellesley, Mass. were in town over the weekend.

Violet Swain, president of Chapter No. 7 Maine "1918 Club" and her husband Robert have returned from So. Portland where members from seven states gathered for a two-day birthday celebration (75th).

Returning to this area as guests of the Swains were Marjorie Jackson, Federal Way, Wash., and Loretta Lillibridge, Alden, Minn., who had traveled the longest distance. Last weekend they traveled to Vermont to visit with an ill member.

By MARTA CLEMENTS

The regular meeting of the West Paris Parent Volunteer Group was held this past week, with a great deal of business undertaken.

Mrs. Ginger Dunham of the Oxford Bank and Trust was invited to meet with us to discuss the banking program that we initiated this year. Mrs. Dunham will be visiting classes and encouraging children to begin saving. She will be offering an incentive program. The classroom with the highest percentage of children saving will receive a reward at the end of the second and fourth quarters.

We are hoping that this program will continue from year to year. Children who are saving do not have minimum deposit requirements. A small amount, if deposited weekly, will still add up.

The Halloween Party committee reported on its progress and made further plans. The Christmas Bazaar committee reported on its progress. Both groups are still open for more volunteers. Mrs. Cheryl Shattenberg is organizing the spook house. She needs people and supplies to help her out. She is looking for a donation of pumpkins and anything else that will add to the haunted house.

The group working on crafts for the Christmas Bazaar would like to hear from you even if you can't attend the group craft sessions. They are taking any homemade craft items that you would like to donate. They will also be having a white elephant section, so don't throw out anything that might be a treasure to a bargain hunter. This group has been meeting mornings, but has also started scheduling evening meetings, if you would like to join them. They will supply the material and ideas for you to work on, or you may bring your own material and ideas to share. Please call Dixie Inman if you are interested, or show up on Tuesday, Oct. 19, at the Agnes Gray School. There will be two times: 9:15 to 11:45 in the a.m., and 6:30 to 8:30 in the p.m. Choose one, or both times and come join the fun.

Mrs. Jean Richards reported that the candy bars are in and are ready to go. There will be some changes this year. The candy bars will come in tote boxes, and will be 36 to a box. However, only one box per family will go home. More will be sent upon request. The group plans to use the profit to help fund field trips and playground equipment. The class that sells the most candy bars will enjoy a pizza party at the end.

Classroom news this week from the kindergarten includes a note of appreciation from Mrs. Biggers and her class to Mrs. Makely who comes in once a week. Mrs. Makely helps out in a variety of ways. This week she read a story and talked about fall. The class is also sending a huge thank-you note to the Oakhurst Company for donating 300 milk caps for them to use in their math projects.

The first-graders made applesauce with Mrs. Sweatt, and they send her their gratitude. She let them help wash, cup up, stir and mash the apples. They all enjoyed eating the results. In math the class is doing a variety of sorting activities with all types of collections. They have small rocks, nuts, bolts, buttons, bread tags, lids and pasta. The Legion Memorial School would gladly accept donations of quantities of other small items for these activities.

The second-graders are working on a new theme: Who Am I? They are learning and writing about themselves. They are reading stories about feelings and friends. In social studies they are beginning the unit on "Our Community." In science they are studying soil. What's in it? Why is it important? What can we do to save it?

The third-graders are beginning their October theme: "Beware Trouble Ahead!" This involves their reading unit of scary stories, writing an imaginary story about flying on a magic carpet, and learning about skin and bones (skeletons) in science. We are looking forward to the scarecrow projects at the end of the month. They are learning math fact strategies and problem solving.

The fourth-graders have finished listening to the story, "The Sign of the Beaver." This fits in with their Maine studies, as the story takes place in colonial Maine. They will be seeing the movie, and comparing it with the book and what they are learning about Maine. They have just finished the fantasy section in their anthology and enjoyed their theme book called "Flat Stanley." In writing they are working on how to set up their papers and are paraphrasing the story of "The Mysterious Girl in the Garden." Learning to paraphrase or summarize a story is a difficult skill for all ages. In math they are reviewing subtraction and are doing problem-solving activities.

My fifth-graders are beginning a unit on map skills under the direction of our student teacher, Mrs. Emerson. We will be doing a variety of activities to learn as much as we can about maps. In science we have started our unit on mystery powders. We are predicting and experimenting to identify six common powders and crystals. We are working on main idea and details in both our reading and writing. We remember, almost daily, to come up with a trivia question, and we search out the answers.

The sixth-graders are working with geoboards in math to learn about angles. In science they are studying whales, the gentle giants of the world. They visited the Monterey Bay Aquarium, via a video, as part of their study of the ocean. In social studies they are studying about China and Confucianism. Group reports on ancient China will be next. They are finishing up their reading unit on survival by reading the theme book "Courage at Indian Deep." The Great Pumpkin Contest. There will be two divisions. One for children and one for adults. Lots of prizes.

Adult Education

Early Financial Planning for College is the topic of a free seminar to be held on Tuesday, Oct. 19 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at Telstar High School. The seminar is designed especially for parents of young children, as well as for parents of middle and high school students. The basics of investing and saving for college expenses and information on financial aid programs will be covered in the session. The presenter will be Mia Purcell, director of the Maine Education Assistance Division of FAME. The session is sponsored by Adult Education of the Telstar Region, and pre-registration is advised to assist in planning for seating and materials.

Color, Fashion and You is the title of an evening seminar on Wednesday, Oct. 20, sponsored by Adult Education of the Telstar Region. The session will be held at Telstar High School and will be presented by Ruth Grover. The seminar will feature information on color selection and a myriad of finishing touches to make one look and feel great. The registration is $5, with a rate of $4 for those 62 and over.

Mature driving, a course for the older driver, will be offered jointly by Adult Education of the Telstar Region and AARP on Oct. 27 and 28. The class will be taught by AARP's Charles Fairbanks and will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Adult Learning Center on Philbrook Street. The course covers a variety of safety and accident avoidance techniques and focuses specifically on issues of concern to the older driver. The cost of the course is $8, payable to AARP.

To register for any of the above seminars, call 824-2780.

NOTES FROM

Telstar Guidance

The Senior Student of the Month for September in Telstar High School's National Honor Society Student of the Month Recognition Program is Keith Smith, son of David Smith of Rumford Point. Keith was nominated by his physics teacher, Mr. Fiske. Mr. Fiske recognized Keith for his academic excellence and for having the best average in the class.

Jessica Perry, daughter of Lauretta Perry of West Bethel, has been chosen for the Junior Student of the Month. She was nominated by her married and single life teacher, Mrs. Conant. Mrs. Conant recognized Jessica for getting all her homework in on time, and her discussions in class.

The Sophomore Student of the Month is Lydia Grover, daughter of Daniel and Nancy Grover of Bethel. Lydia was nominated by her public issues teacher, Mr. Abbott. She was nominated for her academic excellence and for being helpful with her input on the issue.

Jessica Pike, daughter of Kathleen Sweetser of Bethel, is the Freshman Student of the Month. She was nominated by her basic math teacher, Mrs. Applin. She was nominated due to her academic excellence, all-around enjoyment in class by always being prepared and supportive of fellow students.

Other nominees were: seniors Amy Bennett, married and single life, Mrs. Conant; and Jimmy Dumont, algebra II, Mrs. Applin. Juniors Lisa Haines, English, Mrs. Melville; and Kevin Mullen, physics, Mr. Fiske.

COOPERATIVE EXTENSION BUSINESS WORKSHOP

Customer Relations Makes Good Business Sense is the topic of a new business workshop offered by the University of Maine Cooperative Extension in Oxford County. The workshop is designed to help businesses increase sales and profitability through customer relations. It will assist business people to reduce the loss of customers, gain new customers, and increase the satisfaction level of current customers.

The workshop will explore: the dynamics of customer relations, practices that offend customers, and guidelines for establishing an effective customer relations program.

The workshop will be held on Monday, Oct. 18, from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Extension Office on Olson Road in South Paris. James McConnon Jr., business and economics specialist with the University of Maine Cooperative Extension, will present the workshop.

The workshop is open to the public, free of charge. Pre-registration by Oct. 13 is required. Call 743-6329 or 1-800-287-1482 to pre-register.

Soccer

Telstar 2, Leavitt 1

Telstar improved its record to 7-2-1 with a 2-1 Mountain Valley Conference win over Leavitt last Wednesday.

Tim Remington scored both Telstar goals. He converted an indirect kick to tie the game just before halftime.

The winning goal came with a bicycle kick from about 30 yards. Josh Fogg logged both assists.

Todd Wing made five saves for the Rebels, who outshot the Hornets 21-13. Leavitt's goalkeeper turned aside eight shots.

Telstar plays Lisbon away today (Wednesday) and its last game of the regular season is at home Thursday against Dirigo at 3:30 p.m.

Earlier in the season, Telstar beat Lisbon and lost to Dirigo.

Hebron 3, Gould 0

The Gould Academy girls soccer team lost 3-0 to Hebron Academy last Wednesday.

Huskie goaltender M.J. Reed had 12 saves, Hebron 11. Gould took seven shots on goal, Hebron 21.

"Constant improvements are being made as the season progresses," said coach Lauren Head. "The score may not indicate this, but the level of play was significantly better for our team."

Gould 2, Kents Hill 1

The Gould Academy girl's varsity soccer team got its first win of the season Saturday 2-1 over Kents Hill.

In the first half, Asako Okada and Maggie Buckingham scored the goals. Melinda Johansen had both assists.

Goaltender M.J. Reed had 22 saves; Kents Hill, 5. The Huskies took six shots on goal to Kents Hill's 28.

"This was our first win of the season," coach Head said. "Excellent defensive effort the second half." The Huskies held Kents Hill scoreless in the second half.

Field Hockey

Telstar 5, Lisbon 0

Telstar scored five unanswered goals last Wednesday in a 5-0 shutout against Lisbon.

Kelsey Cross started the scoring five minutes into the game on a pass from Amy Patten. Cross scored again five minutes into the second half on a pass from Beth Howe.

Jaime Orrok scored at the 18-minute mark in the first half. Patten slapped in another goal one minute later and four minutes later Katie Mullen scored the final goal of the first half.

Telstar goaltender Jessie Wight logged only one save to the Greyhounds' four. The Rebels took 13 shots on goal, Lisbon one.

A 4-0 lead at the half allowed the Rebels to give defensive substitutes some playing time, according to coach Sally Hannon.

The junior varsity team also won 2-0. Amanda Sysko scored three minutes into the game on a pass from Harmony Mills. In the second half, Mullen scored with six minutes left off a pass from Sysko. The JVs are 8-1-0 for the season.

Hebron 3, Gould 2

The Gould girls field hockey team lost 3-2 last Wednesday to Hebron Academy.

With four minutes left in the first half, Marie Lowell scored off a pass from Abbie McCammon.

With just 15 seconds left in the game, Meredith Mason brought the ball from the 50 yard line, dodging three defenders along the way to score the tying goal and put the game into overtime.

The teams were scoreless during the 10-minute sudden death overtime. Hebron scored on their second overtime corner to win the game.

Kate Graham took up goaltender duty Wednesday after only two days of practice. Starting goaltender Tamara Bucknell-Pogue was out because of an injury. Graham had eight saves of Hebron's 12 shots on goal.

Telstar 1, Winthrop 0

The Rebels shut out Winthrop 1-0 Friday for the team's second win of last week's "Telstar Spirit Week."

It was the second overtime game with the Ramblers this season. Beth Howe scored the only goal on a pass from Cheri Myers.

"The entire defense had a great backing up and cover game," said coach Sally Hannon.

Telstar took 9 shots on goal and Winthrop 5. Rebel goaltender Jessie Wight logged 5 saves, the Rambler's goaltender 8.

The Rebels play Jay today (Wednesday) and finish their regular season at home Friday against Leavitt at 4 p.m.

Earlier in the season, Telstar beat Jay 1-0 in overtime and lost to Leavitt 2-1.

Gould 3, Kents Hill 3

Gould Academy (1-3) and Kents Hill battled through overtime play Saturday to a 3-3 tie.

Marie Lowell scored in the first half with an assist by Abi Howe, and again in the second half on a rebound off the Kents Hill's goalie pads.

Abbie McCammon also scored in the second half off a pass from Beca Whiteley.

Goaltender Kate Graham had four saves.

Golf

Two Gould losses last week

The Gould Academy golf team lost 6 1/2 to 2 1/2 Thursday to North Yarmouth Academy.

Saturday the Huskies lost 11-4 to Bridgton.

Composting graduates

Henry Dombkowski and Richard Hosterman of Bethel, Rockie Graham of Newry, Marie Bartlett of Greenwood and Brenda Gross and Warren Stearns of Hanover all recently graduated from the University of Maine Cooperative Extension master composter program.

As part of the program, the graduate must do 30 hours of volunteer work teaching other people how to compost, according to Bartlett.

Members of the group will offer workshops in the spring on composting yard waste, vegetable food scraps, egg shells, coffee grinds, citrus rinds and other materials, Bartlett said.

"We feel this will defer a lot of tonnage from our local dumps," she said.

More information on local composting projects will be available in the spring, Bartlett said.

IT'S ALL YOURS, TINK–Sunday River Ski Resort President Les Otten presents Newry Fire Chief Tink Conkright with symbolic keys to the Fire Department's new ladder truck. Sunday River donated $30,000 toward the purchase of the new truck. The additional high-altitude firefighting capability provided by the new truck allowed the town Planning Board to grant Sunday River permission to build penthouse occupancy space into the fourth floor of its Summit Hotel, according to skiway spokesman Skip King. The truck saw its first (and so far, only) action in August when it assisted at the scene of the Four Season's Inn fire in Bethel.

Just Imagine Coffeehouse

The Just Imagine Coffeehouse opened its season on Oct. 2 with the appearance of "We Three" from Farmington. It will continue on the first Saturday night of each month, 7 to 10 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel. An atmosphere free of smoke and alcohol combines with toe-tapping music to provide fun for the whole family. Local musicians are invited to the open mike. A $3 donation is requested--$1.50 for seniors and children.

Please join us! Here's what you can look forward to: Nov. 6, "CastleBay" with Julie Lane and Fred Gosbee; Dec. 4, Stan Moehller and T.S. Baker, contemporary folk; Jan. 1, Anni Clark, folk and blues singer/songwriter.

RUMFORD CENTER CONCERT

Thursday, Oct. 14, 7 p.m., well-renowned recording artist and composer, Gordon Jensen will present a concert for a free-will offering at Praise Assembly of God, East Andover Road, Rumford Center.

Jensen has been nominated five times for Songwriter of the Year by Gospel Music Association. His 300-plus songs, many making G.M.A.'s top ten list, have been recorded by such artists as Doug Oldham, Evie, the Imperials and others.

Yorks celebrate 50th

Mr. and Mrs. Garey York of Bethel were guests of honor at an open house held at the Bethel Historical Society's meeting room on Sept. 18, 1993. The event was organized by daughter Sharon Kaiser of Westmoreland, N.H., and the families of David York and Barbara Withey. Relatives and friends assisted with decorating and food.

The couple received many cards and gifts of money in a lovely decorated basket. Flowers from friends and a beautiful memory book were also received.

The Yorks entertained family and relatives for dinner and overnight at the Town & Country Inn in Gorham, N.H., and on Monday, Sept. 20 left for a four-day trip to Bermuda.

Garey York and Dorothy Wilson were married Sept. 19, 1943 at her parents' home in Hanover by Rev. William Penner.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

Special Olympians, veterans in nursing homes, and schools in the flood-damaged mid-West will all benefit from activities planned at the Jackson-Silver Unit's latest meeting on Oct. 7.

On Oct. 24 there will be a card and table game party at the Auxiliary's meeting room in Locke Mills Legion Hall starting at 1 p.m. A donation of $4 at the door entitles the player to pie and coffee, an afternoon playing cards or other games with friends and a chance to win one of the door prizes which will be drawn throughout the afternoon. Proceeds go to Special Olympics programs.

In another project, two evergreen trees at the Legion Hall will be lighted for Christmas with bulbs in memory or in honor of any veteran. Evanna Davis and Martha Stowell are chairing this committee. Individuals may purchase lights for $2 each. The tree lighting will take place on Dec. 2. The money received from this project will be used to purchase Christmas gifts for veterans at Ledgeview Nursing Home as the Unit does each year.

At the recent Fall Conference, Richard Hammond spoke about having driven several truckloads of supplies to the flooded areas in the mid-West. He was very moved by the devastation and felt very badly that some schools were unable to open this fall because of the lack of any supplies--in some cases not even pencils. Therefore, there will be an effort made to contact some of the area schools to see if there are supplies no longer in use which can be used to purchase some. If you can help, contact a member of the Unit. Hammond will keep trucking these supplies as long as necessary.

In other business, funds were voted to be sent to Togus for the Christmas Gift Shop, and also to the Maine Veterans Homes gift shops.

The next meeting will be the annual Girls and Boys State supper at 6 p.m. on Oct. 21. Those young people who attended will be asked to come and report on their week at Boys or Girls State last June.

Their families are invited to this meeting.

The next meeting of the Second District is at the Farmington American Legion Hall at 2 p.m. on Oct. 17. The next County Council is at Buckfield at 7:30 on Oct. 19.

Health Center

Flu season is here again. You may be wondering who should get the influenza vaccine. Here's a list of high-risk people that the Center for Disease control recommends receive the vaccine: persons 65 years of age and older; residents of nursing homes and other chronic-care facilities housing patients of any age with chronic medical conditions; adults and children who have required regular medical follow-up or hospitalization during the preceding year because of chronic metabolic diseases (including diabetes mellitus), renal dysfunction, anemia or immunosuppression (including immunosuppression caused by medication); adults and children with chronic disorders of the pulmonary or cardiovascular systems, including children with asthma; children and teenagers (ages 6 months to 18 years) who are receiving long-term aspirin therapy and therefore may be at risk of developing Reye syndrome after an influenza infection; family members or others who provide care to high-risk persons at home should also be vaccinated;

In addition, a flu shot may be given to: persons wishing to reduce their chances of catching the flu; persons who provide essential community services; students or other persons in schools and colleges if outbreaks would cause major disruptions of school activities; persons traveling to the tropics at any time of the year or to countries south of the equator during April-September.

The Health Center is again offering a series of flu clinics to be held in various locations during October and November. The cost of the immunization at one of the clinics is $7. The schedule is as follows:

--Oct. 15, 10 to 12 a.m. at Bethel Area Health Center.

--Oct. 25, 1 to 3 p.m. at Andover Congregational Church.

--Oct. 29, 1 to 3 p.m. at Woodstock Town Office

--Nov. 1, 5 to 7 p.m. at Bethel Area Health Center.

For more information please call the Health Center at 824-2193.

News from the

The Bethel Library

The Bethel Library is beginning "Birthday Books" this month. There is a display in the main room of the library of new children's books which may be purchased for the library in honor of a special person. A bookplate will be placed in each purchased book, and the donor will receive a notecard to share with the person being honored. Please stop in and take a look at the beautiful new books on display.

Thanks to the Newell family for their donation of "Deer Camp" by John N. Miller in memory of Walter Newell.

New classic and foreign videos: "Night of the Hunter," "Fanny and Alexander," "Juno and the Paycock," "Makioka Sisters," "General della Rovere," "Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown," "Drugstore Cowboy," "Marriage of Maria Braun," "Five Stories for the Very Young," "Ramona's Perfect Day and Bad Day."

New adult books added recently:

"Without Remorse", Tom Clancy; "The Queen and I", Sue Townsend; "Lasher", Ann Rice; "The Streets of Laredo", Larry McMurtry; "Charms for the Easy Life", Kaye Gibbons; "Chains of Command", Dale Brown; "Places to Stay in the Night", Ann Hood; "Great Good Food", Julee Rosso; "Blind Courage", Bill Irwin; "Perfect", Judith McNaught; "Duplicate Keys", Jane Smiley; "Old Friends", Tracy Kidder; "Where Shadows Go", Eugenia Price; "Black Opal", Victoria Holt.

Feeney brothers receive advanced degrees

John Feeney, Telstar High School Class of 1981, has been awarded the degree of Juris Doctor with the distinction magna cum laude from New York University School of Law.

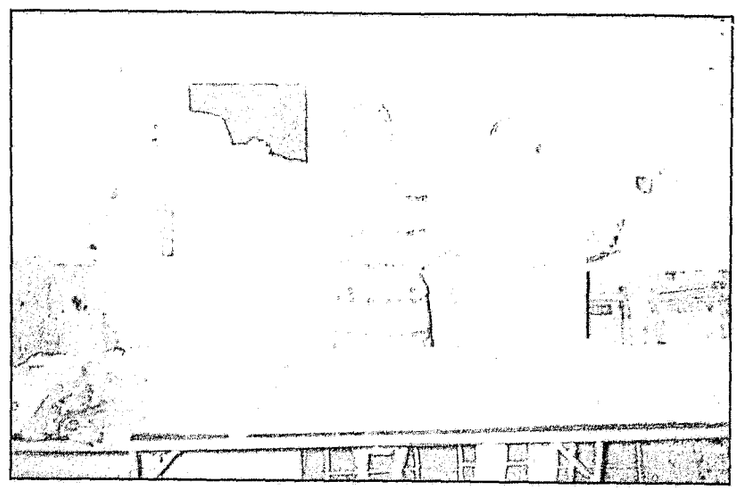
Feeney served on the senior editorial staff of the New York University Law Review and was also honored with election to membership in the Order of the Coif. He has accepted a position as an associate of the Boston firm, Goodwin, Procter & Hoar to begin in one year, after completion of his current service as clerk to the Hon. Herbert P. Wilkins, associate justice, Supreme Judicial Court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Feeney and his wife, Wendy Traynor, live in Chestnut Hill, Mass., and are awaiting the imminent arrival of their first child.

Jim Feeney, Gould '85, recently earned the MBA degree in finance and public accounting at the William E. Simon Graduate School of Business Administration at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N.Y.

He was awarded the Robert Goergen Scholarship for the two-year program.

John and Jim are the sons of Donald and Ruth Feeney of Bethel.



METHODISTS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY--The Bethel United Methodist Church will celebrate 100 years in its present building Sunday with a special service and lunch. Here (from left) Rev. Henry Nickerson, Muriel Faudi and Bud Paine display some of the commemorative items that will be on sale including T-shirts, magnets, stationery and tote-bags. Sunday's guests will include Joan Ellen Greenleaf Wright and Randy Chretien, who both attended the church as children and are now pastors of their own churches. Sunday's service will be followed by an old-fashioned beef stew dinner at the church. Church memorabilia will be on display. A brief history of the church will also be available.

AFTER 5 CLUB FAIR

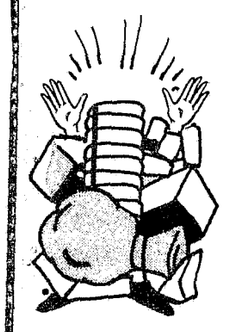
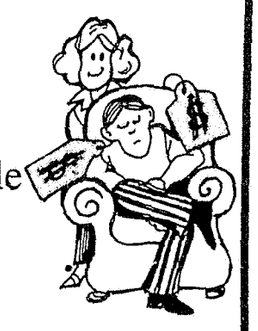
THE SIX STEPS TO CLEANING UP WITH CLASSIFIED



1. Gather up all unused articles of clothing, jewelry, furniture, glassware, china — or almost anything else!



2. Put a reasonable price on each article to be sold.

3. Write an ad describing all the articles you wish to sell or . . .

4. Call us and let us help you write an ad that will sell your "treasures."

5. Wait for the phone to ring with buyers who are happy that you are selling exactly what they've always wanted.

6. Smile as you "clean up" on your clean-up sale.

YOUR AD IS FREE...

if you put the price of the items to be sold and the price is less than $250.

PUBLIC HEARING
Town of Bethel Planning Board
The Bethel Planning Board will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, October 13, 1993 at 6:30 PM at the town office on the following item:
Sunday River Brewery Stage Expansion
As outlined in section IV of the Town of Bethel Site Plan Review Ordinance, the Bethel Planning Board will hold a public hearing on the addition of the stage to the Sunday River Brewery. The application is on file at the Bethel Town Office and can be reviewed by appointment.

USDA - Forest Service
White Mountain National Forest
Evans Notch Ranger District

On October 5, 1993, District Ranger Rolly Ortegon signed a decision to proceed with maintenance and partial relocation of a snowmobile trail in the vicinity of Patte Brook and Broken Bridge Pond in the Town of Albany, Oxford County, Maine. The entire project covers about 1.7 miles of trail. The project involves clearing a twelve foot wide corridor for the relocation of two-thirds mile of trail and some excavator work in spots to smooth the tread and reduce grade. The relocation is necessary to move the trail to higher ground to avoid beaver flowages around Patte Brook and to reduce dual use of snowmobiles and logging traffic on Forest roads. The trail is a main trail with access to the Maine Interconnecting Trail System (ITS) 80 trail. The relocation length is approximately 0.7 miles.

The Decision Memo is available upon request from the Evans Notch Ranger District, RR2, Box 2270, Bethel, ME 04217.

This decision is subject to appeal pursuant to Forest Service regulations 36 CFR Part 217. Appeals must be filed no later than November 22, 1993. Legal Notice of this decision was first published in the Lewiston Sun-Journal, Lewiston, Maine, on October 6, 1993.

Obituaries

HAROLD L. BEAN

Harold L. Bean, 80, of Clinton, died Friday, Oct. 8, 1993, at his home following a long illness.

He was born in Canaan on May 6, 1913, the son of Horace O. and Mabelle V. (Ames) Bean. He was town manager of Clinton, Bethel, Wilton, and Farmington during the years 1949 through 1974. Prior to becoming a town manager, he was acting postmaster for two and one-half years, served two terms on the board of selectmen, and was tax collector, all in the town of Canaan. Since retirement, he served a two-year term on the Brown Memorial Library Board of Trustees and several years on the board of directors of Greenlawn Rest Association, both in Clinton, where he has resided since 1977. He was an honorary member and past master of Canaan Grange, and an honorary member and past master of Carrabassett Lodge A.F. & A.M., Canaan. He was also a former member and past president of the Maine Town and City Management Assoc., and held life membership in the International City Management Association. He was a former member of the Clinton, Wilton and Farmington Lions Club and a member of the Clinton Senior Citizens and the Brown Memorial Methodist Church.

He is survived by his former wife, Edith Ames Bean, of Stuart, Fla.; two sons, Robert and Bruce, both of Clinton; three daughters, Carolyn Bernstein of Millen, Ga., Coleen Krueger of Clinton, and Brenda Smith of Oakland; one sister, Alice Ricker of Waterville; eight grandchildren; a niece and several nephews. A brother, Arthur Bean, died in 1991.

Funeral services were held Oct. 12 at Brown Memorial Methodist Church, Clinton, with the Rev. Susan Davenport officiating. There was a cortege to the Greenlawn Rest Cemetery in Clinton after which the family received relatives and friends at the Bean home. In lieu of flowers, friends wishing may make donations to KVRHA Hospice Program, P.O. Box 1568, Waterville, ME 04903-1568

SYLVIA POOR ELLIS

Mrs. Sylvia Poor Ellis, age 74, died Sunday, Oct. 3, 1993, in Andover, where she had resided the past four years. She was formerly of Wellesley, Mass., where she and her husband spent their winters. She was born in Andover on Aug. 28, 1919, the daughter of Sylvanus and Gertrude Parsons Poor. She graduated from Andover High School in 1937 and from Nasson College in 1941 with a degree in home economics and had taught for two years at Wells High School. She was a county extension agent and eventually an assistant state leader of the 4-H Club of Maine. She became a Girl Scout leader and officer of the Massachusetts Girl Scouts Association and she was a dedicated homemaker.

She was a very active member and served for many years as coordinator of Christian education at the Wellesley Congregational Church in Wellesley, Mass. and had attended the Andover Congregational Church in Andover. She had formerly held the position of trustee at Nasson College.

She was married in Andover on Aug. 18, 1946 to George H. Ellis, who survives. Other survivors include two daughters: Mrs. Stephen (Rebecca) Hudspeth of Wilton, Conn., and Deborah J. Ellis of Wellesley, Mass.; two sons: George M. Ellis of Natick, Mass., and Randall P. Ellis of Newton, Mass.; and six grandchildren.

Memorial services were held Oct. 7, 1993 at the Andover Congregational Church with Pastor Jane Rich officiating. Interment was at the Woodlawn Cemetery, Andover. Memorial services will also be conducted at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 16 at the Wellesley Congregational Church (Village Church), Wellesley, Mass. Those who desire, in lieu of flowers, may contribute in her memory to the Alzheimers Disease & Related Disorders Association, Maine Chapter, 86 Pleasant Hill Road, Scarborough, ME 04074. Arrangements were under the direction of the Meader & Son Funeral Home, Rumford.

CLEORA I. MILLIGAN

Mrs. Cleora Isabella Milligan, 72, died Wednesday, Oct. 6, 1993 at her home at Rumford Point.

She was born at Rumford, May 27, 1921, the daughter of Clarence and Betsey Ross Abbott. She graduated from Stephens High School in Rumford in 1939. She had been a homemaker and helped her husband, Sabon, manage the family dairy farm. Mrs. Milligan was a member of Virgin Memorial Chapel of Rumford United Methodist Church. She had been a volunteer at Lee Memorial Hospital in Fort Myers, Fla., for several years. She loved crafts, especially quilting and knitting, and donated much of it to the church. She was a Girl Scout and leader and had earned an Eagle award. She was married at Albany, Ga., Sept. 14, 1942 to Sabon P. Milligan, who died May 3, 1988 at Rumford. Mrs. Milligan spent summers in Prince Edward Island and winters in Fort Myers.

Mrs. Milligan is survived by five daughters: Jeanne Day of South Portland, Mrs. Franklin (Shirley) Gammon of East Andover, Elizabeth Atkinson of Truro, Nova Scotia, Mrs. Patrick (Nancy) Dye of Marietta, Ga., and Mrs. Christopher (Dorothy) Hutchins of East Vassalboro; a son, Robert C. Milligan of Rumford Point; a sister, Mrs. Roger (Frieda) Roy of Hampden; a brother, Kenneth Abbott of Concord, Mass.; 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

FAYE J. JORDAN

Faye J. Jordan, 39, of Auburn, died Thursday, Oct. 7, 1993, at Central Maine Medical Center after a short illness.

She was born July 5, 1954, in Auburn, the daughter of Melville N. and Florence Harrington Jordan. She was educated in Watertown, Mass., and Paoli, Pa., schools.

Surviving are her parents of Auburn; a sister, Barbara Kneeland of Cherryfield; and a stepsister, Arlene Bean of Bethel.

Funeral services were held Oct. 10 at the Memorial Chapel of Dillingham & Son, Auburn, with interment at the Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

CHRISTIAN WOMEN UNITED

The monthly meeting of the Christian Women United will be held at the Country Way Restaurant in South Paris on Tuesday, Oct. 19. The luncheon will be served at 11:30.

The speaker for the day will be Ginger Dyer of Corinna; she will also furnish the music.

Those who have not been contacted and would like a reservation may call Leora Whitney at 743-7221 or call Pearl Anderson at 743-5724 by Friday, Oct. 15.

MISSIONS PRESENTATION

Reverend Ray Monroe, Assemblies of God missionary to Swaziland, will be the featured guest speaker at Praise Assembly of God, Rumford Center, on Sunday, Oct. 17 at 6:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend this special missions presentation.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Deputation Service

The Bethel Church of the Nazarene will host a Deputation Service with Mrs. Carolyn Myatt, Missionary to India, on Oct. 15.

Mrs. Myatt is on furlough and speaking in churches across the United States and Canada. While on furlough, she is making her home in Washington, Pa.

Weekend Revival Meetings

The Bethel Church of the Nazarene has just concluded a very successful series of weekend revival meetings with Rev. Robert Armstrong of Skowhegan, a registered Evangelist of the Maine District Church of the Nazarene. Music for the Friday and Saturday night services was supplied by "Rejoice" of Oxford.

Church Services

Regular services at the church include Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., Morning Worship Service at 10:30 a.m., and Evening Praise Service at 6 p.m. every Sunday. There is also a mid-week Prayer and Bible Study meeting at 7 p.m. each Wednesday.

For further information about services, Women's Bible Study, Wednesday Sunday School, Nursing Home Ministries, etc., persons may phone the church office at 824-3766.

Card of Thanks

My sincere appreciation for all the good wishes expressed by cards, phone, visits to home and hospital, flowers and mementoes received during my hospitalization and since my return home. They were greatly enjoyed and a boost to morale.

I am progressing very well and am in hope of resuming by normal activities soon.

Gratefully,
Ed. Vachon

Card of Thanks

Gary and Dot would like to express our sincere thanks to each and everyone who made our 50 Anniversary one to be remembered by our loving family. The card, flowers, food and gifts of money were all happily received. Thanks to all who spent precious time with us and the Moses Mason House and to our friends, relatives and special children who organized this special celebration.

Love to all,
Gary & Dot

Card of Thanks

A sincere thank you to Brooks Bros. and crew for the lovely open house in honor of my retirement. Also, many thanks to all the friends who extended best wishes, sent cards, flowers and gifts.

At this time I would like to thank everyone for the cards, flowers, phone calls and food since my accident.

Gratefully,
Louise Annis
